

FACULTY PROFILE

Jonathan MacFarlane

Visiting Assistant Professor of Humanities and Political Philosophy

Mueller Hall Room 124219-464-
5006 Jon.MacFarlane@valpo.edu

Biography

Jonathan MacFarlane received his BA from the University of Calgary and is completing his PhD in Political Science from the University of Notre Dame. He previously taught at Oglethorpe University (GA). His teaching and research interests include early modern political philosophy, constitutional politics, federalism, and politics and literature. MacFarlane has presented papers on Hobbes, Locke, and Montesquieu, as well as the political philosophy of the Canadian constitution and has published on Kant and Rousseau. He is writing a political analysis of the plays of French writer Bernard-Marie Koltès, and a constitutional assessment of Canadian aboriginal policy.

The PDF Footer