

COMMUNICATION DEPARTMENT FACULTY & STAFF

The department's faculty offer a broad range of experience in the communication industries and in the classroom. The breadth of areas represented across the curriculum enables the department to offer a wide range of courses combined with excellent facilities. Students are assigned a faculty advisor within the department as soon as they enroll, both at the undergraduate and graduate level. Our faculty all excel at maintaining close contacts with alumni and the various communication industries, and regularly use both sources of expertise to help shape program offerings.
