

ENHANCE YOUR MAJOR WITH A MINOR IN COMMUNICATION

Communication

You can minor in any one of the five department majors--a great way to combine your communication interests with your major in another department. For example, you might want to combine an international business major with a communication minor to open even more doors in your global future.

Political Communication

A logical choice for careers in politics or public policy, or for political reporting.

Public Speaking and Debate

Perfect for those planning any career which will involve a significant public speaking component. And it's a good choice if you plan to attend law school.
