

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING FACULTY

In the classroom, Valpo engineering students learn from some of the best engineering professors in the field - accomplished faculty members who have received numerous accolades for their teaching and research on topics such as ethics and emerging technology, solar energy, soil analysis after earthquakes, jet technology, and more. These mentoring professors provide strong models of ethical living and are deeply committed to teaching and their students.