Biography

Professor Uehling has taught at Valparaiso University since 1977. At VU, he particularly appreciates the intellectual energy of great students and great colleagues.

According to Prof. Uehling, beneficial teaching means a careful equation between his own enthusiasm for texts and that of the community that studies and discusses them, often for the first time.

Professor Uehling brings to the English department a wide range of academic interests and expertise. He enjoys teaching fiction from the nineteenth century forward, especially concerning the Vietnam War and American women writers. He also enjoys teaching advanced composition, medieval literature, and history of the English language. Among his favorite literary works are the Canterbury Tales.

Professor Uehling has chaired the English department on and off for over fifteen years. He is also chairing the task force for the new English, History, and Education building, has served as a mentor for the Lilly Fellows Program and the United Board Scholars. He is currently mentoring a scholar from Cambodia.

Recent publications by Professor Uehling have appeared in Vietnam War Generation Journal, The Cresset, and Twentieth Century Literature.
