

EXTRACURRICULAR GROUPS

Students can participate in the more than 100 campus organizations at Valparaiso University. By taking part in these extracurricular activities, they explore a wide variety of interests. Writing for the newspaper, hosting a radio show, being involved in community service, or running for a seat in Student Senate can help students decide what course of study they wish to pursue. Meeting new people provides valuable opportunities to discuss majors, careers, and areas of interest.

The PDF Footer