

PROFILES OF FRENCH GRADUATES

Read how these graduates of VU's French program have gone on to use their French skills in the workplace and beyond.

Carrie Parrott Monahan earned a B.A. in French and International Board of Trade for a few years, after which she headed to Morocco as a Peace Corps Volunteer. She then worked as a Senior Policy Analyst, Africa Unit of the Millennium Challenge Corporation. "As a freshman at Valpo, I started to travel. The French/IECA program was a perfect fit for me. I was able to study French intensively at Sorbonne University in Paris. Throughout my coursework, I also became interested in developing exciting adventures overseas!..."

---

Melissa Brown earned a B.A. in French and Communication in May 1992. She went on to earn a Master's degree in International Development. The ever-growing responsibilities of her career, which have included working for the U.S. Agency for International Development. Read more about Melissa's career.

The PDF Footer