

APPLICATION INFO PAGE

Any student interested in attending Valparaiso University should consider applying to the IT Fellows Program. While the program is highly selective, we use a holistic approach to applications that considers more than a student's quantitative success.

If interested in the program, students need to complete the application in full and must also complete the Valparaiso University application process prior to the admissions deadline. To access a copy of the 2008-2009 VU application, visit the Admissions website by clicking here

We are looking for students who demonstrate outstanding leadership, good communication, strong analytical skills, and high levels of motivation. However, there is no one skill or personality trait that ensures a student admittance to the program. For more information about the program and its mission, click here.

Although this is not an exhaustive list, the following criteria will be examined in reviewing applicants:

- Motivation
- Leadership
- Communication
- Analytical Skills
- Interest in Technology
- Interest in the Fellows Program
