Biography

Dolores Keller has taught studio piano at Valparaiso University for more than twenty-five years. She received her undergraduate degree from Northern Illinois University, with a major in music and minors in history and philosophy. Later she took graduate study there in piano pedagogy and completed her master's degree at Valparaiso University. She has also taken advanced study in piano at Indiana University. Since 1993 she has participated each August in the Interlochen Chamber Music Seminars, where she plays both piano and cello. Although trained as a pianist, she has adopted cello playing as her avocation, and for ten years she played in the Valparaiso University Orchestra. Mrs. Keller and her husband have lived in Valparaiso since 1974, when they moved here from Palatine, Illinois. She is the mother of two grown sons.
