

Dedicated faculty and state-of-the-art facilities allow VALPO students an advantage in the classroom and beyond.

Valpo's highly qualified faculty demonstrates a commitment and passion for teaching that are unbeatable. These supportive mentors are not just instructors, they are clinically experienced nurses who are leaders in their field. Instead of only teaching nursing theories, these professors bring their patient care experience with them into the classroom. Valpo's nursing faculty has a firm commitment to higher education as well. More than 60 percent of the faculty hold doctoral degrees, one of the highest percentages among other colleges of nursing in the area.
