

UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH CONFERENCES

The presentation of research projects, scholarly work, or creative activities is an important part of an undergraduate research experience at Valpo. The annual Celebration of Undergraduate Scholarship (CUS) is an excellent venue for students to present their work in a poster format to the campus and local community. Students from all disciplines are strongly encouraged to become involved in research and creative endeavors and present their work at the annual CUS.

The Butler University Undergraduate Research Conference and the National Conference on Undergraduate Research are additional opportunities for Valpo students to present their research to regional and national audiences. If you are interested in attending these conferences or want more information about other conferences and symposia, please contact your faculty sponsor or the Office of Sponsored and Undergraduate Research.

Related Sites

- Butler University Undergraduate Research Conference
- National Conferences on Undergraduate Research \(NCUR\)
- 23rd National Conference on Undergraduate Research/University of Wisconsin
- 24th National Conference on Undergraduate Research/University of Montana \(April 15-17, 2010\)
- Council on Undergraduate Research \(CUR\)

The PDF Footer