

EXERCISE SCIENCE CAREERS

The opportunities within the field of exercise science have grown dramatically in the past two decades, and will continue to grow as the discipline develops further. University research and teaching, sports medicine clinics, hospital and cardiac rehabilitation centers, corporate fitness centers, health and community fitness clubs, personal training, and coaching, are a few of the career opportunities exercise science graduates may choose.

The PDF Footer