

SPORTS ADMINISTRATION (MS) & DUAL (JD) DEGREES

Sports Administration

The Sports Administration program has developed into a solid part of our Graduate School at Valparaiso University. It has become not only a nationally recognized school of study but an international one as well. Our mixture of students come from all parts of the United States, Canada, Europe and the far East. With this mixture of graduate students comes a diversity that has been an asset to the program and its majors.

- Intercollegiate Athletics
- Amateur & Professional Sports
- Sport Marketing
- Special Event Management

And many more sport related careers in the professional & non-professional areas.

The Master of Sport Administration (MSSA) at Valparaiso University provides graduate students with the skills and knowledge necessary to effectively manage in a wide range of sport-related enterprises.

Sports Administration Dual Law (JD) Program

The MSSA/JD program offers students in the Valparaiso University School of Law a dual law (JD) and Sports Administration (MS) degree program. Together these programs require 114 credits. Law students must meet all the standard admissions requirement for the program.
