

NEWS ARCHIVES

- 4/19/10 - Students to present work at global conference, Kenya ambassador to speak to campus, Students win regional economic competition
- 3/15/10 - Virtual nursing center to expand by 50 percent, Valpo first in state to achieve severe weather certification, Hendle wins state recognition for Special Olympics work
- 2/8/10 - Valpo Goes Red 2010 draws hundreds, Valparaiso University professors win funding for their studies, Faculty, student recital showcase Saturday
- 1/12/10 - Peace symposium, history professor win MLK awards, Strategic Planning Committee members to draft plan, Professor's poetry book called 'scenic and intimate'
- 11/16/09 - Yellow Ribbon program draws Veterans to Valpo, Strategic planning process moves forward, Professor's book examines children, childhood in world religions
- 10/27/09 - Valpo recognized for green initiatives on report card, German House celebrates 10th anniversary, Commitment to global learning shows in Fulbright awards
- 9/30/09 - Valpo pollution study team returns from Japan, Valpo students help set community service record
- 9/9/09 - Enrollment rises to highest level since 1983
- 9/1/09 - Campus celebrates Opening Convocation, Lecture series to open with global warming expert, Soccer team aids diabetes campaign in Caribbean
- 7/14/09 - Rest in Peace, John Steven Paul
- 5/21/09 - Better weather forecasts aim of radar partnership, Faculty named senior research professors, Economics professor honored for teaching
- 5/11/09 - Noted author Wangerin to give commencement address, Five students win Fulbrights for international work, Small Town Lutheran Impacts World with Big Heart
- 4/27/09 - Provost honored for service, Valparaiso Kemper scholars announced, Marketing and communication reorganization announced
- 4/13/09 - Placement rate of graduates remains high, Student newspaper named Indiana's best for third year, Valpo authors to be honored
- 3/31/09 - Jazz Fest Tickets on sale now, A Word from the Webmaster, Admission Councilors hit the road again