Visiting Professor in School Psychology

The Department of Education at Valparaiso University invites applications for a two-year Visiting Assistant Professor of Education position for the NASP-approved School Psychology Program starting the 2016-2017 academic year. This appointment would require a graduate-level teaching load with field-supervision requirements. Preference will be given to applicants that have completed a Ph.D. in School Psychology and are NCSP certified. It is expected that applicants have a scholarship record and experience working within PK-12 schools.

Valparaiso University does not unlawfully discriminate and aims to employ persons of various backgrounds and experiences to develop and support a diverse community. Its entire EOE policy can be found at http://www.valpo.edu/generalcounsel/equal_opportunity_policy.php. Successful applicants will demonstrate a commitment to cultural diversity and the ability to work with individuals or groups from diverse backgrounds. In addition to strong academic qualifications and excellence in teaching, the University highly values experience in working across cultural and other significant differences. At the same time, candidates should be interested in working at a university engaged in issues in Christian higher education in the Lutheran tradition. Employment at Valparaiso University will require a satisfactory criminal background check.

Complete applications should contain a cover letter, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, and transcripts. Applicants may also provide samples of scholarship if this is available. Applications should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at http://apply.interfolio.com/33873. Consideration of applicants will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Questions regarding this position may be directed to Kevin Gary, Ph.D., chair of the search committee, at kevin.gary@valpo.edu.
